Philosophy Statement

My student affairs philosophy focuses on creating relationships with students and providing them with the support that enables their social, emotional and academic development. I value working with students as they navigate campus and figuring out how to both challenge and support them. I believe that college makes a lasting impact on students, not only because it determines their career path but their experiences also lead to lasting professional, academic and social contacts.

As a professional in student affairs, I empower students to take an active role in decision-making and in valuing diversity and involvement on campus. I believe campus involvement demonstrates true passion towards a subject and helps student to network. Also, I value teaching and incorporating diversity on college campuses to help students create safe spaces and consider others' perspectives.

Overall, I believe the relationships students form with college faculty and staff greatly influences their experiences in college. I hope to work alongside students as they move through college and serve as a mentor to them. My aim is for my students to feel comfortable coming to me for questions about their academic and professional development. I also hope to relate and connect with students by sharing some of my life experiences. I believe that I can have the greatest impact on students when I am able to truly show how much I care about their future and in providing them with the support and the resources that ultimately lead to their success.
